A Practical Guide to Turning Ideas Into Action

Strengthening the Climate Movement by Empowering Local Changemakers

↳ Run on Climate Education Fund

Run on Climate Education Fund accelerates local, cutting-edge climate policy across the U.S. by empowering climate justice advocates.

The Run On Climate Education Fund works to accelerate bold local climate action in communities across the U.S. By supporting local officials, community leaders, and organizers with policy research and development, communications, peer support, strategy, and outreach, we help municipalities advance cutting-edge climate policies and programs. Together, we will help cities across the U.S. eliminate fossil fuel use and pollution.

How To Get Started

- 1 Start first in your own community.
- 2 Once you've achieved success in your own community, start networking with climate champions working at the local level in other communities.
- 3 Seek funders of all types and sizes to support not only the work you are doing in your community, but also climate action in communities across the U.S.
- 4 Use your funding to build a team of staff.
- 5 Have your staff coordinate the collaboration of local-level changemakers (both inside and outside of local governments).
